indicated that the forces of repeal will win by a substantial majority.

Senator Simmons, who has led the fight for repeal, has estimated that the hill will carry by not less than ten votes, and there was every promise that his estimate will prove correct.

There was no real test of strength in the voting to-night, but the repeal forces wan the first round of the fight.

either vote was so decisive as that in the Simmons amendment.

One modifying amendment by Sent-or Sittlerland was beaten, 49 to 23, no the second proposed by Senator unusing suffered a like fate 45 to 37, of the fifty Senators who voted for the Simmons amendments, thirty-six cree beingerates and thirteen Republicans, and the other vote was cast by cratter Poindexter, Progressive. The State officials are to suspend operation of the new law and referring from putting certain heavy expenses entailed by the law upon the compations. A text of the constitutionality of the measure will be made.

A commission will be made to frame a new bill to be introduced at the next Legislature to take the place of the LAY PLANS CAREFULLY Corn law and the amendment. One of the three commissioners will be animed to transpare the take the place of the by Kenticky business organizations, another by the State Insurance Board and the third by the thisurance companies on the two substitutes offered bere were neveral changes, but the police had laid their plans but the police had laid their plans. there were several changes, but the substitute of Democrats remained about the time as on the first vote. Attempts will be made to-morrow to put through other amendments, but repeal farces are believed to be sufficiently strong to dispose of them in short order, and pave the way for the passage of the bill itself.
